Right now there is a discrepancy between two different sheets I Received. See the screenshot below.

The left has 7, the right has 6.

Let me know how to move forward. I have assigned Location IDs, Updated with Lat and longs, and compiled both sheets together and attached this sheet as well as one map. Once you guys clarify which teams gets what and gets buy off on Locations ID I can make Team maps.

Question, what does Site Number or Sample Number Refer to? We need to get them to start using the same terminology for the same information and not multiple. As well as the same address format/terminology. I have also seen Site type and not the same information filled in. One file has Hydrant or Number, another sheet has SS or DEM. Not sure what they mean.

Also is we could confirm the Lat and longs we generated when we go sample tomorrow that would be great, so we know we are mapping the right location. And have someone fill in the missing information from the attached sheet as well.

Let me know with questions.

Thanks. Janine
